

Please don't protect me from content anymore. I am so distressed that my favorite radio program can no longer play certain songs. How dare you? Yes, this is a Clear Channel Communications network station and yes, they obviously are running scared. That's the point isn't it? In America we should NOT be scared to say something in public. There are radio and TV shows I choose not to watch because they are offensive to me but they're still on the air. My rights are as strong as the rights of the conservative right. Or they used to be, anyway. So, please, don't censor free speech anymore. Don't protect me from myself. I really don't need it and it scares me to death to have you doing so.
